INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Dear Sir:

Transmitted herewith are the original and three copies of a two-page log, setting forth the results of a conference between GIL GREEN, former President of the New York State Communist Political Association, and Congressman VITO MARCANTONIO, which conference took place September 4, 1945 according to Confidential Informant NYT-25.

The log contains a discussion of arrangements being made for GIL GREEN to meet MARCANTONIO to say goodbye and to introduce ROBERT THOMPSON, the new chairman of the New York State COMMUNIST PARTY.

The Philadelphia Office has furnished information concerning the present political status of Congressman Marcantonio as received in turn from its informant, [REDACTED] (PAC-107). This paid informant is considered reliable. ~~CONF. INFT.~~

According to the informant, he, along with two other members of the Communist Party in the Anthracite Section, District Number 3, Philadelphia area, visited an unidentified Italian whom the informant described as the former publicity director and campaign manager for Marcantonio. The informant did not obtain the Italian's name, who presently resides on a farm at Waymart, Pennsylvania. He was, however, registered for 1946 Communist Party membership by Florence Doucher, one of the persons accompanying the informant.

The Italian visited by the informant and the other Communists stated that Congressman Marcantonio has been very close to Earl Browder and since Browder's connections with the Communist Party have been terminated, Marcantonio has been drifting away from Party principles and is not now cognizant of the Communist line and does not adhere to it strictly. The unidentified Italian Communist pointed out that efforts are being made to arrange a meeting between William Z. Foster, the Chairman of the Communist Party, and Marcantonio, in order to see if a working agreement can be arrived at. Marcantonio is said to have indicated a general tendency to work with the Tammany Hall group in New York City and is believed to be endeavoring to gain favor with that machine.

The informant is endeavoring to ascertain the name of the Italian Communist and the information will be brought to the attention of the Bureau.

TO: Mr. D. M. Ladd

FROM: J. C. Strickland

SUBJECT: Congressman Vito Marcantonio
New York City

DATE: August 9, 1946

There have been two recent communications received from the New York Office which reflect on how the Communist Party reaches Congressman Vito Marcantonio.

On July 16, 1946, Anthony Ribaudo, describing himself as being with Marcantonio, contacted Communist Party headquarters in an attempt to talk to Eugene Dennis, General Secretary of the Communist Party. He was unable to reach Dennis; however, he did talk to the telephone switchboard operator and stated that Marcantonio was going to give a statement to the press with regard to the "Brooklyn situation" on that particular afternoon. Ribaudo said he wanted this information brought to the attention of Dennis promptly so that if any action was desired it could be taken prior to the statement. Subsequently, one of the officials in the New York State Communist Party Election Committee, A. Benson, contacted Ribaudo and stated that the matter had already been taken care of. The "Brooklyn situation" is not familiar, although it possibly pertains to the support publicly offered by Marcantonio to Congressman O'Toole, which was a surprise to Communists in the New York City area since their favored candidate from the same area had to withdraw. This was Douglas McMahon, reported Communist who is an official of the Transport Workers Union - CIO.

Subsequent to the above, it was learned from a technical source that on August 1, 1946, Eugene Dennis, General Secretary of the Communist Party told Ribaudo, campaign manager for Congressman Vito Marcantonio, that he, Dennis, wanted to see Marcantonio as soon as possible. Dennis was advised by Ribaudo that Marcantonio was at that time in Washington but that he was returning to New York City on the evening of August 1, 1946. Dennis said that he preferred to see Marcantonio between 4:00 and 7:00 PM on August 2, 1946, but if that was not possible he, Dennis, would see Marcantonio on Saturday, August 3, 1946. The purpose of Dennis' desire to see Marcantonio is unknown.

It might be noted that the Bureau has conducted an investigation of Ribaudo who in the past served as Section organizer for the East Harlem Section of the Communist Party in the New York City area.

... it is—documentary proof of one of William Randolph Hearst's journalistic frauds! Hearst's Mirror has its ff of ace "hatchet men" ... character assassins who stop at nothing to muddy the reputations of those who fight people. But that doesn't satisfy a Hearst editor.

BATTLES RISING PRICES

Representative Vito Marcantonio addressing a rally to save price control, called by labor and consumer groups, in Madison Square Park.

After the reporters turn in their pieces, the editorial blue pencil alters the facts ... deliberately falsifies the stories. Above you see an example—a photostatic copy of the original typewritten story, with the pencilled corrections by Jack Lait, Mirror editor, in Lait's own handwriting.

Notice that Lait calls you "scum of the slums" because you don't happen to be a blue-blood, and you don't live in a swank home. That is what Hearst and his editors think of the workingman. That is why they don't like Rep. Marcantonio—he speaks for the people who work for a living.

The authors of the vicious Mirror series against Rep. Marcantonio told many of their co-workers that they were angered by the changes

Mirror Workers Praise Marc—See Page 2, Col. 2

Jack Lait had made in their stories, that these changes resulted in falsification of the facts. But, of course, falsification of the facts is an old trick of Hearst, owner of the Mirror.

Note how Lait pencilled in the word "squirmed" in the reporter's copy. Lait knows all about squirming. When a group of seamen came to see him recently to protest against an anti-labor editorial, he "squirmed" his way into the men's room and stayed there until they left.

 notorious underworld figures in Harlem and the city—killers, racketeers, thieves and dope dealers,
 ...

Marcantonio has filed a civil suit for $250,000 against the Mirror.
 The Mirror is so sure of its guilt that it has told the writers of the series to duck the process-servers who want to slap subpoenas on them. The main job, however, is Marcantonio's re-election. He should be nominated by the voters of all three parties next Tuesday, as the only fitting manner in which the people of the 18th Congressional District can express their opinion of Hearst and his mercenary liars!

It would be a calamity for the consumer if Rep. Marcantonio were not re-elected, she claimed.

Praise Marc's Stand on Italy

Thousands of Italian-Americans in the 18th Congressional District are throwing their full support behind Congressman Vito Marcantonio because of his stand on Italy. Marcantonio's campaign headquarters revealed yesterday. Leader in the Congressional fight to recognize Italy as a member of the United Nations before V-E Day in 1945, Marcantonio presented the original resolution to the House Foreign Affairs Committee which lifted Italy from the status of a co-belligerent.

Backed by prominent Italian-Americans like Fiorello LaGuardia and Edward Corsi, New York's Commissioner of Labor, Marcantonio fought for months to win recognition for the 300,000 Italian partisans who waged heroic underground warfare against the Nazis and saved countless American lives.

Standing firmly behind Marcantonio in his demand were representatives of the Sons of Italy, the Columbia Organization, the Free Italy America Labor Council, the Italian Chamber of Commerce of New York, and 300,000 Italian Americans in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, furriers, shoe workers, and other unions.

Congressman Marcantonio more recently led the fight in the House to bring an increase in relief and bread rations for the Italian people. He was responsible for opening the mails and parcel package service to Italy. He has come out strongly for the protection of Italy's territorial integrity.

Labor organizations under his leadership have collected tens of thousands of dollars and cans of food for relief of the Italian people.

The Mirror workers warn voters "Let's not be distracted from the real issues by this phony series."

"GUNG HO!"

Brig. Gen. Evans F. Carlson, famed leader of Carlson's Marine Raiders, is co-chairman of the National Win-The-Peace Conference. Carlson's slogan of "Gung Ho," borrowed from the Chinese Partisan armies, means "Work Together." Carlson is associated with Rep. Marcantonio, who is a sponsor of the Conference and an organizer of a Congressional Committee fighting for a consistent peace policy.

swung solidly behind his re-election.

Marcantonio spearheaded the opposition to the draft-labor legislation, which a crazed Congress tried to foist on the country after the railroad strike.

In the drive to win new freedom for labor after the war, Marcantonio threw his full support behind the permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission and the boosting of the minimum wage from 40 cents to 65 cents.

Perfect Voting Record

His voting record was perfect from the workman's point of view, one of the tiny handful of members of Congress with such a record.

Joining with organized labor, the New York Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions has come out endorsing Marcantonio's re-election. "No candidate in the present Congress," said the Committee, "has fought more courageously or consistently for the policies endorsed by this Committee than Mr. Marcantonio."

Sabath says Marc Is "one of most able"

Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, dean of the House of Representatives, says:

"I consider Vito Marcantonio one of the most able Members of Congress, always cooperative, and always with the interests of the masses at heart."

"Whenever any question has come up involving the interests of Czechoslovaks, he has always cooperated to the fullest extent."

O'Toole Lauds Work for Irish

"Congressman Vito Marcantonio is a fighter for all the people," said Congressman Donald L. O'Toole of Brooklyn yesterday in a statement praising his stand on Ireland. "He is one of the leading exponents in Congress in defense of the welfare of Irish-Americans. I strongly urge his re-election."

Negro; Italian, Czech or Scandinavian.

Despite the opposition of reactionaries in Congress, Marcantonio has fought this bill for week after week.

He introduced the bill against the poll tax. Time and time again, Marcantonio has guided it successfully through the House only to be stopped by filibustering Southern fascists.

He has demanded an investigadiscrimination. Paul Robeson says: "Marcantonio fights for my people and for all the people. I'm for Marcantonio."

Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. says: "We need Representative Marcantonio in Congress to safeguard the gains made by the people, to carry on the fight for a true democracy. Marcantonio must be returned to Congress to continue his fight to win the peace."

HERE IS WHY WE CANNOT AFFORD TO LOSE MARCANTONIO

(Representative Marcantonio's Voting Record on the 15 most important issues before Congress in the 1945-46 term):

1. Fought and voted for extension of OPA without amendments; fought and voted against all amendments to cripple price control.
2. Led the fight against, and voted against, the Case bill which would have crippled the labor unions.
3. Voted against the bill to draft striking workmen into the Army in May, 1946; and the Hobbs bill to shackle the unions.
4. Fought and voted for the Patman Veterans' Emergency Housing program; fought and voted against all amendments to weaken the program.
5. Voted for all bills calling for participation in the United Nations organizations.
6. Voted for full appropriation for UNRRA, the organization to aid the starving victims of Hitler and Japan in Europe, Asia and Africa; and voted against all amendments to cripple it or to cut its funds.
7. Voted for federal funds for school lunches, without discrimination because of race, creed or color.
8. Voted for public control of atomic energy by a civilian commission.
9. VOTED AND LED THE FIGHT TO BRING FEPC TO THE FLOOR OF THE HOUSE FOR A VOTE.
10. Sponsored and led the fight for the bill to end the poll-tax, which keeps people from voting in Southern states.
11. Voted and fought against the bill to give back the United States Employment Service to the states, where it will be turned into a political football for local machines and will discriminate against Negroes, Jews, Catholics, etc.
12. VOTED AGAINST WITCH-HUNT COMMITTEE RUN BY MISSISSIPPI POLL-TAXER JOHN RANKIN TO PERSECUTE UNIONISTS, LIBERALS, PROGRESSIVES.
13. Voted against all amendments which weakened the Full Employment Bill.
14. VOTED AGAINST CUTTING OUT THE EXCESS PROFITS TAXES FOR THE WEALTHY CORPORATIONS WHILE THE WORKMAN MUST STILL PAY THE WITHOLDING TAX OUT OF PAY ENVELOPE.
15. Voted against the bill to free the railroad companies from government regulations under the anti-trust laws.

Marcantonio Wins Aid Of Top Labor Leaders

Two of the country's top labor leaders have thrown their support behind Congressman Vito Marcantonio in his fight for reelection in the 18th Congressional District. CIO President Philip Murray has given his "whole hearted support," and A. F. Whitney, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, has commended him for promoting the best interests of American workers.

Consumers Hail Marc's Price Fight

"Representative Vito Marcantonio is the man in Congress we depend on most to fight for real price control," Jeannette Turner, secretary of the New York City Consumer Council said yesterday.

The City Consumer Council is the organization which organized the fight in New York to keep real price control and which has been battling against the black market and the rising cost of living in the city.

"Rep. Marcantonio led the fight against that terrible bill to cripple OPA which President Truman later vetoed," Mrs. Turner said. "He was one of the hardest fighters against the crippling amendments proposed by congressmen who wanted to kill OPA and succeeded in defeating a few of them."

Mrs. Turner recalled that the fighting congressman from East Harlem was one of the organizers of a group of congressmen who banded together to try to save OPA and to protect the consumers from being robbed by the big

Mirror Workers Know 'Why' of Smear

What do the Mirror's own workers think of their paper's attack on Representative Vito Marcantonio?

Here are some quotations from Copy, published by the Mirror Unit of the New York Newspaper Guild:

"We know that Marc has been a fighting leader in the campaign to save the Fair Employment Practices Commission and to enact anti-lynching law and to repeal the poll-tax in the South. Where has the crusading Mirror been on these great issues? Has it run editorials against mob murder of defenceless Negroes? Against the poll-tax that disfranchises millions of our citizens?"

Voters Know Marc Wages War on Bigotry

The people of the 18th Congressional District, who come from every race, color and creed, know Rep. Vito Marcantonio as a man who has waged ceaseless war to preserve their rights and freedoms.

He has fought discrimination against Negroes, against Catholics, against Jews, against Italians, and against all foreign-born.

tion of the Ku Klux Klan. Through his efforts, the Klan is being brought out in the open. Its true link with the German-American Bund is being revealed. Its real menace is the No. 1 front for native fascism is being exposed.

During the war, he fought every form of Jim-Crowism in the Army and Navy brought to him.

In his own District he fought for and obtained the erection of the ends it impossible to walk. Therefore, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell, Mass., ranking Republican member of the Veterans Committee introduced a bill whereby the Government would provide automobiles for legless veterans.

"Her bill languished in committee, Rankin did nothing to speed action.

"At this point, Marcantonio grabbed the ball. He drew up a petition discharging a subcommittee appointed by Rankin. This petition would force the bill to vote on the House floor. In three days almost 120 Congressmen signed up. Meanwhile, Rankin moved not at all."

"Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York proposes legislation making Italy a full fledged ally in the war against Hitler—"

(Washington Post Feb. 2, 1945)

"Congressman Marcantonio was the commutingest man in the House during the last week Congress was in session. Marcantonio flew 500 miles each day, between New York and Washington, sleeping in New York every night and voting in the House every day."

man was supported Hitler and the Nazi program to achieve fascist enslavement of the world. Hearst personally knew the Nazi war lords and, as a matter of fact, boasted that they were contributors, under their own signatures, to the pages of his papers.

Hearst supported Japanese imperialism, demanding an appeasement of Japan right up to the time of Pearl Harbor. He fought the program of "collective security" that might have saved the world from World War II.

Hearst is a past master of falsifying news, because he has been so for a long time. As far back as 1898, Theodore Roosevelt branded an interview in Hearst's New York Journal as "an invention from beginning to end." And, on another occasion, Roosevelt called Hearst a "scoundrel," charging him with appealing to "evil human passion" and with being in part responsible for inciting the assassination of President McKinley.

In more recent years, Hearst often attacked the idol of New York's East Side, Alfred E. (Al) Smith. This outstanding New York governor, crucified in his presidential race by southern bigotry, said: "Hearst is a man as low and as mean as I can picture him. . . . He has not got a ounce of good, clean pure red blood in his body. . . . He is a pestilence that walks in the dark."

The Nazis, of course, loved the baron of San Simeon. Back in 1934, Hearst praised the results of a Nazi-framed plebiscite, as a "unanimous expression of the popular will."

Continuing, he said, "This battle, in fact, was only viewed as a struggle which all liberty-loving people are following with sympathy and understanding."

And, shortly after, the Hearst press carried signed articles by another of Nazi murderers constantly under merciless fire by the Hearst papers, and, of course, they never bothered too much with the facts. That Roosevelt was elected four times is ample proof that the American people are too smart to listen to the rantings and ravings of Hearst's paid hirelings for the monopolies and trusts that seek to crush the working man.

Puerto Ricans Urged To Back Marcantonio

With the movement for Puerto Rican independence quickening every day, focal point in the fight centers around the House bill to give Puerto Rico immediate freedom, introduced in the House by Congressman Vito Marcantonio.

Supported by thousands of Puerto Ricans in his own 18th District as well as throughout the country, Marcantonio has introduced his bill regularly every two years since 1936.

Long recognized in the United States as the leading fighter for the Puerto Rican people, Marcantonio recently won support of "El Imparcial", one of the largest Puerto Rican papers, which is widely read by residents of the 18th District.

"The Puerto Rican voters registered in the 18th Congressional District," said the editorial in El Imparcial, "will do an act of justice if they unite in a compact bloc to back actively the re-election campaign of Congressman Vito Marcantonio. . . . Marcantonio has given his mind to the study of the problems of all Puerto Rico and has devoted his efforts to try to solve them. . . . The people of Vito Marcantonio has been closely associated for a long time with a noble and consistent efforts for the Puerto Rican people."

public health insurance program.

He fought, too, for liberalized veterans' benefits. On every one of these things, Mr. Hearst was on the other side of the fence, on the side of the big trusts, the big money men who want to drain all they can from the people.

2) When the big money boys wanted to cripple the workingman by destroying his unions through the Case anti-labor bill, it was Representative Marcantonio who led the fight on the floor of Congress to defeat this bill.

3) Rep. Marcantonio is hated by Sen. Bilbo and Congressman Rankin of Mississippi, worse than any other Congressman. It was Marcantonio who has led the fight for the Fair Employment Practices Committee (FEPC) which would stop discrimination in jobs against Catholics, Jews, Negroes, Italians or any other group because of race or color or religion.

Sen. Bilbo and Representative Rankin, naturally, do not want such a law and have far blocked it.

Neither does Mr. Hearst, who thinks a great deal of Bilbo and Rankin and what they stand for.

4) Mr. Hearst was much fonder of our enemies than of our allies in the last war and did what he could to make it tough for us to win. But he is anxiously looking forward to another war, a third world war, and is doing his best to promote it.

He knows, Representative Marcantonio is one of the best and most devoted fighters against his attempts to get another war started.

So there you have the real reasons. But like every scoundrel who knows he is licked if the truth were told, the Daily Mirror tries to defeat Marcantonio by blackening his name with the most atrocious tales.

The people, though, are on to Hearst. And they know Rep. Marcantonio and know about his courageous fight for their interests. That is why, despite Hearst, they will come out on Tuesday and vote for Marcantonio in all three party primaries.

Hearst Has Been Enemy Of the People For Years

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE DAILY SMIRROR

NEW YORK, N. Y.

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."—John, viii, 32.

Why Hearst Smears Marc

TO EVERY decent American, it is a badge of honor to be "smeared" and lied about by a Hearst newspaper, such as the Daily Mirror.

For more than forty years, Hearst has been telling the dirtiest falsehoods and cooking up the most crooked stories about every political leader who has dared to speak up and fight for the common people, those who work for a living.

Everything decent, everything honest, everything clean in American life has been attacked by this man Hearst, who was a pal of Hitler's and who used his newspapers to agitate for Hitler and for Japanese fascism when they were getting ready for war against our own country.

But never in his long career as a falsifier of the news has William Randolph Hearst or his editors done a dirtier job than the Daily Mirror pulled on Rep.
Vito Marcantonio these past few weeks.

Why are Mr. Hearst and his Mirror editors so desperately anxious to get Rep. Marcantonio out of Congress?

We can think of four good reasons.

1) Rep. Marcantonio has been a top leader in the House of Representatives in the fight for a decent living for every American.

He was most active in the fight to save OPA and price control; to lift the minimum wages from to return Rep. Vito Marcantonio to Congress. More than 600 have banded together to recruit their former comrades-in-arms into ized supporters of the fight. Progressive Congressman, who winning in the Democratic and Republican primaries in the 18th Congressional District last Tuesday. Marcantonio is unopposed for ALP designation and also is regular Democratic organization designee.

is organization has as co-leaders James Galvin, Pablo Israel Plotkin, Pasquale Milla, William W. Cardwell and Edward Conway. All are members of major veterans' organizations and are thoroughly familiar with Marcantonio's consistent fight for veterans.

few of the highlights in Marc's fight for the G.I.'s are:

his leadership in the fight for the annual leave pay bill for ex-servicemen, which recently became law.

his fight for the G.I. Bill of Rights and the amendment to improve benefits to veterans; his activity for direct government loans to veterans at government interest rates, instead of high rates at bankers' interest rates;

his brilliant and successful fight to provide automobiles for disabled veterans;

his persistent battle for veterans' housing legislation, as well as other public housing; his successful opposition to the effort to smuggle anti-labor laws into veterans legislation.

As early as 1935, Rep. Marcantonio was in there battling for the rights of veterans of World War I.

He is one of the managers of the successful fight to grant payment of a deferred bonus to the vets. Marcantonio got action on the bill to grant specially-made cars to amputees despite the bitter resistance of Poll-Taxer John Rankin, head of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs. Rankin had the bill buried in his committee, and Marc had to start circulating a discharge petition. When Rankin saw Marc's move gaining headway, he was forced to permit a vote on the bill, which passed, largely as a result of Marcantonio's single-handed efforts, on the last day of the House session.

During the war, Marc handled hundreds of cases of G.I.'s, who were discriminated against, mostly for reasons of race or color. He always fought for a democratic policy in the armed forces, and in many cases won justice for the soldiers who were victims of bigotry and prejudice.

Speakers at the mass rally Saturday night include veteran amputees, who are coming to this meeting from Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. The meeting, in Marcantonio's words, "will demonstrate to the American people that the veterans are continuing their fight for democracy and progress this time on the home front."

The Voters Have Their Say

FRANK McCUE, 1000 3rd Ave.—"I have been living in ex-Martin J. Kennedy's district while he was in Congress for the last 18 years and I found it a very difficult problem to either speak to him or see him, during election or any other time. I must say within those 18 years, I have tried to contact him many of times. It was all in vain.

"Now, within the last two years, people of this district have voted in a congressman by the name of Vito Marcantonio, who not only lets you come to see him, but who does all in his power to get out of his way to help you.

PETER MASSIMINO, 410 74th St.—"As a 100 percent disabled veteran, I feel that Marc is out to help me. He has shown his good faith by his fight in the interests of amputees."

Mrs. JULIO ORTIZ, 111 E. 95th—"Marc is always doing things for the people. To him, the common people are important and he never is too busy to help his people. He works late hours and always is on the job when people need him."

GUSTAV FERKAU, 506 East 81 St.—"I am German-born. I am always progressive and when I found out Marcantonio was progressive, I decided he was my man. Watching his record and finding out that even a common man can talk to a Congressman, has convinced me he is the right man.

ISRAEL PLOTKIN, 435 E. 111th—"He is a man for the people and his past record has shown he is 100 percent for the veterans.

"I have talked to a lot of veterans and they feel, as I do, that Marc is the man for the job."

NONA STODART, 1937 1st Avenue—"I used to think all Congressmen were 'jerks' until I moved into Marcantonio's district. 'Marc' is different—a real people's Congressman. You never have to write him letters because he always votes right. On every important issue that comes up, he is always on the job. He's in there fighting for the people's program twenty-four hours a day."

ED CONWAY, 111 East 89th—"Marc was the only friend the GI had, when he was far away from home. He took care of our families while we were away, and anytime a G.I. was in trouble 'Marc' was the only man who tried to help him out. Now, that the war is over, he has been leading the fight for G.I. rights."

CHARLES MUSIL, 347 East 72nd St.—"I think a Congressman should be judged on his voting record and on that basis, Marc's record is 100 percent for the common man."

HEARST CONFERS WITH NAZI PALS

A Sample Fraud!

2 Policemen Raid Club, So Marc Has 3 Demoted

In July, 1942, a bartender, in a saloon at the corner of 2nd Ave. and 100th St., was shot by a robber. The

That's a headline in the Mirror series of lies about Marc.

Here are the facts:

About fifty elderly men were celebrating the eve of the Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, at the Apollo Social Club, 114 116th Street, a club in existence more than 40 years.

Through the door, smashed two drunken cops, who proceeded to abuse the men verbally, shove them around and accuse them of disorderly conduct.

Vito Marcantonio was called by the pastor of the nearby Catholic church. He rushed from his home, and went to court. The entire story of the intoxicated men and their ruthless brutality was revealed. On Marcantonio's insistence, the minutes of the trial were delivered to Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, then to Police Headquarters. The demotion of the guilty cops was a matter of course.

This is just a typical case of the Hearst typewriter gangsters deliberately distorting the public record.

VITO MARCANTONIO

New York, N. Y.,

September 11, 1946.

The handful of Communists in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union are still making efforts to get recognition for the Communists suspended from holding office in Cutters Local 10. They were prohibited from holding office for circulating slanderous statements against anti-Stalinist opponents, and have now formed a Garment Workers' Committee, that "fighting progressive" Vito Marcantonio has been retained as counsel. The legal battle, as usual in Communist strategy, will be carried on under the guise of a fight for "democratic rights."

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

December 13, 1946

Director, FBI

CONGRESSMAN VITO MARCANTONIO

There is attached a copy of a letter dated December 10, 1946, received from Robert B. Barker, Assistant General Counsel and Chief Investigator of the Special Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures for the House of Representatives, which is currently engaged in conducting a general investigation of the election of Congressman Vito Marcantonio. You will note that in said letter, Mr. Barker requests information from the files of the FBI that would constitute evidence of Marcantonio's membership in the Communist Party.

Mr. Barker's letter has been acknowledged, and he has been advised that the information contained in the files of this Bureau is confidential and cannot be released without the express authority of the Attorney General. He was further informed that a copy of his letter was being made available to you.

For your information, a review of the files of this Bureau fails to disclose any evidence to establish direct proof of Marcantonio's membership in the Communist Party; however, the following data pertaining to Marcantonio do appear in the Bureau's files and are being set forth hereinafter.

Marcantonio for a number of years has been President of the International Labor Defense, which is reported to be under the control and influence of members of the Communist Party. The June 22, 1937, issue of the "Daily Worker", East Coast Communist publication, stated that Marcantonio was President of the International Labor Defense at that time.

An article appearing in the publication "The Fifth National Convention of the IWO" reflects that on June 8, 1940, Marcantonio made a speech before the convention at the World's Fair in New York City at which time he admitted being President of the International Labor Defense. The letterhead of the International Labor Defense in February, 1946, reflects that Marcantonio was President of this organization.

Benjamin Gitlow, formerly a member of the Ruling Political Committee of the American Communist Party and of the Executive Committee and Praesidium of the Communist International, in his book "I Confess" states that the organization of the International Labor Defense, popularly known as the ILD, came into existence as a result of a Moscow decision that an American section of the MOPR - Russian initials for the International Class War Prisoners Aid Society - be organized at once. According to Gitlow, the MOPR was operated by the Comintern and was the international defense organization of the Communist Movement with headquarters in Moscow.

According to an article appearing in the January 17, 1944, issue of the "People's World," West Coast Communist publication, Marcantonio, who was referred to as the President of the International Labor Defense, excoriated the refusal of the then Attorney General Francis Biddle to consider cancellation of the warrant of deportation against Mrs. Earl Browder.

A United Press article appearing in the April 15, 1944, issue of the "Washington Post" newspaper under a Moscow, April 14 date line disclosed that the Soviet press displayed on April 14 dispatches about a revival of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States in which dispatches Marcantonio was quoted as follows: "The Soviet Union is the only democratic force in the world today."

An editorial appearing in the July 31, 1944, issue of the "New York Daily Mirror" captioned "Moscow's Vito" is quoted in part as follows:

"Vito Marcantonio, sniveling little pro-Communist who stood out against this country as Joe Stalin's sole representative in the Congress of the United States, will seek the Republican and Democratic nominations, in addition to that of the ALP, which he already owns, in the primary elections tomorrow.

"In our opinion, as an official he is utterly no good, a liability to the City of New York, a disgrace to the nation's Congress and an enemy of everything that American democracy should stand for.

"If elected, he will continue to represent, as he has represented in the past, the Communist Party of Moscow and the interests of the Soviet Union in our Nation's Congress, which he despises."

The article further states that Marcantonio voted against all national defense appropriations up until June 22, 1941, on which date the alliance of "the earth's two blackest dictatorships was broken; Hitler attacked Russia." The article continues that over night Marcantonio and all Communists "achieved the mental and moral flip-flop that put them behind the defense effort 100 per cent — not for this country's good but for Russia's."

An article appearing in the "New York Evening Journal-American" dated February 25, 1941, stated in part as follows: "Denounced as an out and out Communist, Representative Vito Marcantonio was officially let out of the American Labor Party today." The article further states that Marcantonio was the target of a bitter attack by Luigi Antonini, State Chairman of the American Labor Party when he denounced Marcantonio as being "part and parcel of the Communist Party."

An article appearing in the "New York Evening Journal-American" dated June 25, 1941, captioned "Marcantonio - Reds Drive on School Probe" states in part as follows:

"Following the strict Communist Party line, agitators in Harlem have begun an intensive drive against the Joint Legislative Committee to Investigate Subversive Activities in the public schools. Playing an active role in the attack on the Rapp-Coudert Legislative Committee is Representative Vito Marcantonio of the 20th Congressional District.

"Vito Marcantonio, labelled as a Communist follower by Luigi Antonini, State Chairman of the American Labor Party, as well as by the Dies Committee in Congress, was the principal speaker at a mass meeting last week at Park Palace, 110th Street and 5th Avenue, which was featured by verbal attacks on the Rapp-Coudert Committee."

Under the heading of "Repudiated by A.L.P." the article continues:

"In the last Congressional campaign, when he was repudiated by the American Labor Party, which he continues to claim as his political party affiliation, his defeat was urged by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who said, 'We know Marcantonio here in Washington, and we know his Communist leanings, his sympathies with present policies supported by the Communists, and his general attitude towards wise and wholesome legislation.'

"The Daily Worker, in editorial tribute to Vito Marcantonio, referred to him as the 'Party spokesman'.

"Under frequent fire when former members of the Communist Party appeared as witnesses before the Dies Committee, Vito Marcantonio has been listed either as an officer or member of no less than 25 organizations branded as Communist controlled or Communist fronts."

Under the caption of "Follow Reds' Program," the article continues:

"Marcantonio's activity in the present attempt to arouse hatred for the Rapp-Coudert Committee follows closely the Communist program for constant agitation, and is in line with many of his efforts in the past which have brought him notoriety and publicity.

"Rioting in a Madison Square demonstration in 1937 led to the arrest of Marcantonio and twelve other ringleaders.

"When the 'sit down' strikers attempted to seize twenty-nine relief stations of New York City Marcantonio was their defender and spokesman.

"When the Communist Party still retained an official place on the New York State ballot, Marcantonio was endorsed as the Party candidate for Congress in 1938.

"And as recently as June 7th, Marcantonio, speaking before the fourth American Writers Congress, labelled a Communist controlled body, deplored present day attacks on Communists."

Under the caption "Address Communists" the article continues:

"When the International Workers Order, branded by the Dies Committee as the 'Number 2 Communist front' in the United States, met, Marcantonio was principal speaker."

"When the American Students Union, branded as a Communist controlled organization, met, Marcantonio was principal speaker."

"When the American Peace Mobilization Group, classified as another Communist inspired organization, met, Marcantonio was principal speaker."

An article appearing in the "New York Daily Mirror" dated November 15, 1941, captioned "Marcantonio, His Eyes Left, About Faces," states that Congress has had many laughs at the expense of Marcantonio in recent months following his loud "Yes" for neutrality revision. This article continues:

"Marcantonio's record shows unbroken opposition to Roosevelt's policy of all-out aid until Hitler invaded Russia."

"He voted against Selective Service Draft, against Lend-Lease, and against the four billion dollar Army bill."

"In a Madison Square Garden speech March 22, 1941, he assailed newspapers that reported the latter bill had passed unanimously."

"I cast my vote against that bill, and the record will show it," he shouted.

"In March Marcantonio assailed the Roosevelt policies and insisted the American people did not want war. All this before Hitler invaded Russia."

"When the second Lend-Lease bill came up, Russia had been invaded. Marcantonio not only voted aye, but thought we should send troops. When neutrality revision came to a vote Marcantonio not only 'Yessed', but wanted an A.E.F. to open up a western front to relieve pressure on Russia."

An article appearing in the "New York World Telegram" dated June 5, 1945, captioned "Moscow's Marcantonio" is quoted in part as follows:

"And yet Rep. Vito Marcantonio is, in the Congress of the United States, the recognized spokesman for Communists.

"His votes have always veered to conform with the Communist Party line. Until Germany turned against Russia he opposed Selective Service in this country, voted against lend-lease and appropriations for ships and planes, denounced Roosevelt foreign policy as the 'Hall St.-Downing St. Axis.' He inveighed early and late against 'war mongers.'

"Only when Germany attacked Russia and the Communist Party line sharply changed did Congressman Vito Marcantonio promptly and agilely change with it.

"His capture of the left wing leadership of the American Labor Party, his perennial dickerings and alliances with other parties have all been directed to the strengthening of Communist political influence and the furtherance of Communist aims.

"Because of his notorious record as an ardent pro-Communist, Democrats in Congress did not hesitate, in 1943, to reject Marcantonio for membership in the House Judiciary Committee.

"Yet despite all this, Tammany leaders who call themselves Democrats endorsed yesterday this Soviet-serving Congressman for the Democratic nomination in the 18th Assembly District!

"This comes close to an all-time political low, even for Tammany!"

An article captioned "Those Days" by George E. Sokolsky which appeared in the April 8, 1942, issue of the "New York Sun" stated that Marcantonio, who voted against every measure for national defense prior to June 22, 1941. Another article by Columnist Sokolsky which appeared in the June 12, 1942, issue of the "New York Sun" attacked Marcantonio's record in Congress as being that of a complete isolationist prior to Hitler's attack on Stalin and alleged that the International Labor Defense, which Marcantonio headed, was a Communist front organization according to a formal statement made by former Attorney General Francis Biddle in the Bridges Case. This article also states that Marcantonio has followed the Communist Party line and that he was an obstructionist up to the time that Russia was attacked.

Marcantonio is listed as National Vice Chairman of the American Peace Mobilization in pamphlets issued by that organization prior to August, 1941. You will recall that the American Peace Mobilization is one of the organizations that was termed subversive within the purview of the Hatch Act by former Attorney General Francis Biddle.

The September 3, 1940, issue of the "Daily Worker" refers to Marcantonio as Vice Chairman of the American Peace Mobilization.

The letterhead of the American League for Peace and Democracy for 1939 lists Marcantonio as a member of the National Committee of this organization. It should be noted that the American League for Peace and Democracy is one of those organizations that was termed subversive within the purview of the Hatch Act by former Attorney General Biddle.

The letterhead of the American League Against War and Fascism in October, 1937, reflects that Marcantonio was a member of the Advisory Board of said organization. It should be noted that this organization is the predecessor of the American League for Peace and Democracy.

The letterhead of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born in July, 1943, reflects that Marcantonio was one of the sponsors of this organization which is alleged to be influenced by Communists.

The February 10, 1938, issue of the "Daily Worker" reflects that Marcantonio was a member of the International Workers Order at that time. This organization is one of the foremost Communist front organizations in the United States.

According to the May 30, 1938, issue of the "Daily Worker," Marcantonio along with others was scheduled to greet the convention of 600 delegates of the International Workers Order in New York City representing 40,000 members which was to assemble in the auditorium of the Transport Workers Union, New York City, on June 4, 1938, for a two-day parley. The April, 1939, issue of the publication "Fraternal Outlook," official organ of the International Workers Order, reflects that Marcantonio would speak at a meeting of the General Executive Board of this organization.

The August, 1940, issue of the "Fraternal Outlook" carries a photograph of William Z. Foster, President of the IWO with Marcantonio attending the opening celebration of the Fifth National Convention of this organization held at the Court of Peace in the New York World's Fair, June 8, 1940.

The letterhead of the "New Masses," weekly Communist publication, lists Marcantonio as a contributing editor in September, 1945.

The September 29, 1945, issue of the "People's Voice," New York negro Communist newspaper, carries a guest editorial written by Marcantonio captioned "Un-American Dies Committee Must Be Stopped Now." This article is quoted in part as follows:

"News that the House Committee on Un-American activities has subpoenaed the leaders of the Communist party of America is a clear indication that the committee is the unregenerate offspring of the old Dies gang that disgraced America for so many years. An attack on the Communist party of America is an attack on the rights and freedom of all the American people. If this attack is permitted to go without adequate and crushing opposition, every American is put in danger of losing the freedom for which hundreds of thousands of American boys have fought and died on far-flung battle fronts in the war against fascism. I call on all the people to come to the defense of the Communist party, beat back the committee's un-American, subversive attack."

Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Hoover: VITO MARCANTONIO

The Special Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures is currently engaged in conducting a general investigation of the election of Congressman Marcantonio, and you are no doubt aware, it has been repeatedly stated that Congressman Marcantonio is a Communist and Communist Party member.

On Saturday, December 7, Congressman Marcantonio and his attorneys appeared here in my office, and his campaign for renomination and re-election was discussed on the record for some four hours. During this discussion and examination, I asked Congressman Marcantonio point blank if he was now or had ever been a member of the Communist Party, to which he replied in the negative. I am informed, however, by a confidential and responsible source that Congressman Marcantonio is a Party member, and that evidence of this fact is in the files of the F.B.I.

I wish you would inform me whether or not this information, whether negative or affirmative, may be furnished to me for presentation to the Committee, since undoubtedly this question will be raised later on if a resolution is offered to bar or exclude Congressman Marcantonio from taking his seat as a member of the 80th Congress.

Very sincerely yours, 5-102

My dear Mr. Hoover:

I have received your letter of the 13th in reply to mine of December 10th, and I wish to inform you that I was erroneously advised that evidence of Congressman Marcantonio's membership in the Communist Party was on file in the Federal Bureau of Investigation. My informant, apparently, confused him with Representative Hugh Delacy who, it is generally known, is an avowed Communist and Party member.

I checked back on the information I had received subsequent to my letter of December 10th to you, and found that undoubtedly the Communist Party would reject Congressman Marcantonio's application for membership simply for the strategic reason that he is more valuable as a non-Party member subject to Party discipline than he would be as an actual member of the Party. His unswerving adherence to the Communist Party line is conclusive evidence of this.

Im- plicating all officeholders was proven at Nuernberg Trial to be the foundation stone of the Nazi Era, out of which the killing of more than 40,000,000 human beings by violence in war—a magnitude of killing not justified under the laws of God. Man! Is the vice shown at Nuernberg a virtue in New York? Any government organized against itself is headed in the wrong direction! It foretells a down- fall! Such evil is not self-correcting.

The failure to take action upon the PRIMA FACIE EVI- DENCE OF THESE WRONGS has an outstanding signifi- cance—it is the crux of the petition to the House. THE GOVERNMENT OF THE CITY, COUNTY AND STATE OF NEW YORK, IN ELECTION MATTERS, IS ORGAN- IZED AGAINST ITSELF, i. e. AGAINST THE PEOPLE. The officeholders, whether Democratic, Republican or Ameri- can Labor Party evade, shun, disown and reject vigilance over the acts of each other, because at each election, primaries or general, whether nominations made by con- ventions or petition, they and those serving under them, with political party leaders arrange and agree to perpetuate them- selves (or favored successors) in office by pre-emption of allocated political party spaces in the ballot make-up. It happened in 1946, 1945, 1944 and 1943. Public office in New York becomes a gift of political leaders and not a gift of the people, even though the formality of an election had. Here are examples:

In 1945, the Republican Party was completely blackened out of the Mayoralty campaign; its column and symbol was pre-empted to a Tammany Judge, with the five Republican County Chairmen, acting as his Committee, with Governor Dewey's approval given over the radio. The Democratic and Republican leaders had agreed that "PATRONAGE WOULD BE DIVIDED ON A 60-40 BASIS: 60% FOR TAMMANY; AND 40% FOR THE REPUBLICANS." quoted from Newbold Morris. Was that a Democratic free election? The people had a choice between two Tammany Hall en- rolled Democrats.

In the 1944 election, all political parties nominated the same person for District Attorney of New York County, now in office.

Again, in that 1944 election, in Second Judicial District, the Democratic, Republican and American Labor Party con- ventions nominated the same nine persons for the office of Justice of Supreme Court, $25,000 a year for 14 year term. The Liberal Party nominated "dummy" candidates; they declined; and then there were four political parties naming the same nine persons for the judgeships. Does this be- havior win favor with the Courts? What was the need of an election? What was left for the people to do?

In 1944, Vito Marcantonio ran for Congress on three tickets in the primaries. He was challenged running as Democrat and Republican, with objections and specifications filed. Under oath, Vito Marcantonio obtained two orders to show cause from the Supreme Court, returnable July 12th, 1944, asking the Court to rule on objections and specifica- tions instead of the Election Board. The Objector was served on July 7th, 1944, thereby preventing him appearing before the Election Board on July 10th. Before 10 A. M. July 10th, 1944, the Objector served his Democratic return and cross-complaint in the Republican and Democratic case, upon the Corporation Counsel, obtaining admission of ser- vice, and filed the same with Clerk of Supreme Court cases 12041 and 12042. The Board of Elections never served with either Order to show cause. On July 10th, 1944, the Objector was held in default; and the Board dismissed the objections and specifications. On July 12th, 1944, the Judge said the orders to show cause were a communist! Why are Democrats and Republicans asking my endorsement?"

President Truman says: "People should be permitted to choose their government, by their freely expressed choice, WITHOUT INTERFERENCE."

He also said: "THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR FACTS. WHERE THE FACTS ARE CLEAR AND ARE KNOWN, UNBIASED MEN DO NOT DIFFER AS TO CONCLUSIONS."

General Eisenhower said: "The device of a political bloc runs counter to American concept."

Speaking against result of circumventing the Bill of Rights, Governor Herbert Lehman added: "This is a rank perversion of our form of government. As long as it is permitted to endure, it shall be justly stigmatized as a nation of hypocrites." Again, he said: "The orderly processes of government are undermined by a coalition of pressure groups."

MUST NOT CONGRESS THEN INSIST UPON SEE- ING WITH ITS OWN EYES THIS PRIMA FACIE EVI- DENCE? ONLY CONGRESS CAN COPE WITH THE ISSUES RAISED HEREIN, upon the petition to the House, and upon the Specifications of the Contest. To sustain the petition and to sustain the Specifications, a government func- tion, is something beyond the capacity of a single citizen, as it involves the records of public administrative depart- ments, working the year round, in two or more locations, with upwards of hundreds of employees.

In his "State of the Union" message, President Truman said: "Substantial segments of our people have been pre- vented from exercising fully their right to participate in the election of public officials, both locally and nationally. Free- dom to engage in lawful callings has been denied. THE WILL TO FIGHT THESE CRIMES SHOULD BE IN THE HEARTS OF EVERY ONE OF US."

The Government of the United States must act! When there is none to say "No" to transgressions of the people's reserved rights, one unjustifiable grievance leads to an- other, spreading fast over the nation. The cumulative force of these grievances, political first, then economical, mounting ever higher, constitutes oppression, always finally expressed in money demands against the taxpayers' dollar and the people's free dollar. Such oppressions are fast becoming unbearable, with "conceits of discipline" imposed to justify each new wickedness—call them involuntary burdens, mak- ing free people slaves. We emerged from World War I with debts of nations governing half the peoples of the earth. We emerge from World War II burdened with the debts of all nations and all peoples.

Those now having the most to say in fixing the rules seem to be the ones who have taken too much of their share for what they gave, while others died, fought and served to uphold American principles and give birth to new doctrines of righteous government. They are the ones, too, who al- ways keep fighting to get more from the rest of us, disre- garding those basic principles and new doctrines. Economical iniquities, public and private, are not equitably abolished but permitted to survive; and transgressions against the Bill of Rights are not condemned, but get rewarded.

The vigilance of the people is of no avail, even when timely, unable to find any effective resistance left in the State or Nation's laws, when officeholders have forsworn duty.

Of what resistance be? A free people's last course against tyranny, whatever the peril?

THE POWER OF CONGRESS IS INVOKED! WHAT IS DUE THE PEOPLE SHOULD BE HONORED!

THEY DO NOT WANT "TO BE TURNED BACK INTO THE HATEFUL PATHS OF DESPOTISM!"

CONGRESSMAN VITO MARCANTONIO

Budenz stated that Marcantonio was one of the "front line reliance" of the Communist Party. He said he knew that Marcantonio consulted Browder just before Browder was kicked out of the Party. It was on the Puerto Rican situation. (He would say he had a perfect right to talk to Browder.) They were together riding around the streets in a taxicab. He said that Marcantonio could, of course, always be "counted on."

Later Budenz said that Marcantonio in his position as a Congressman in Washington, D. C., could "wander around and associate" with persons who, as Budenz indicated, would be sought out as sources. He further stated that in Marcantonio's district, he has, in effect, the support of "semi-gangster elements."

Budenz stated that "I know things have come out of Marcantonio's office.....As I said, one of the girls who used to be in the National Office is in Marcantonio's office or was." He said she used to come up to National Headquarters. He described her as a "sort of grey blond."

VITO MARCANTONIO

New York, N. Y.

March 10, 1947.

Representative Vito Marcantonio, sole American Laborite in the lower house of Congress, renewed March 8, his appeal for the formation of a national third party to work against "political reaction".

Marcantonio spoke at a conference called by District 3, United Furniture Workers of America, CIO, to voice opposition to proposed anti-labor legislation in Congress. The conference was held at the Hotel Diplomat, 108 West Forty-third St., New York City.

Asserting that the Republicans are preparing to enact a "vicious anti-labor policy", Marcantonio said he was opposed to a program of "political reaction" based on tickets headed by "a Truman and a Dewey, a Truman and a Taft, or a Truman and a Vandenberg."

"We in the labor movement must work for a new political party that will make political warfare on the reactionaries", he continued, "Otherwise, we will face the crisis of fascism."

Reference is made to the report of Special Agent George E. Davis in the above-captioned case dated March 22, 1947, with which were forwarded to the Bureau a number of enclosures. The original enclosures have been returned to the Washington Field office and photostatic copies have been made for inclusion in the Bureau's files. Most of these enclosures pertain to Vito Marcantonio and it is believed they should be filed in connection with the main file on Marcantonio, 100-28126.

The purpose of this memorandum is to enable the file section to file these enclosures in the Marcantonio file with the exception of the enclosures dated November 1, 1946, entitled "Report of Investigation" which is to be retained as an enclosure in file #56-695.

RE: VITO MARCANTONIO

Dear Sir:

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] a radio show, "MEET THE PRESS". She advised Special Agent Stephen T. Lawrence today that CONGRESSMAN VITO MARCANTONIO had consented to appear on "MEET THE PRESS", which will originate in Washington, D. C., Friday, May 23, 1947 at 10:00 P.M. C
1-13

MARCANTONIO has on other occasions refused to face these reporters but now indicates he is concerned about "this rising tide against Communism", and appears to want to say something in its defense over such a program outlet.

[REDACTED] does not plan to confer with him before the program ■ she does not want him to accidentally gain any inkling of the type of questions with which he will be confronted. After the program she will confer with him and report anything of interest to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

Edward Scheidt

NEW PARTISAN COMMITTEE FOR THE RE-ELECTION OF CONGRESSMAN VITO MARCANTONIO

Philip Loeb was a member of this communist front organization whose purpose, as its name indicates, was to send the "red" congressman of Harlem back to Congress.

Marcantonio's record is so "red" that it would be difficult to believe that he is not a secret member of the Communist Party. In all the years during which he has been in Congress, he has not deviated one jot or tittle from the Communist Party line. No matter how violent the shifts in the line have been from time to time, Marcantonio was one of the top leaders in the seditious American Peace Mobilization which picketed the White House during the period of the Stalin-Hitler Pact. He fought, even with his lone vote in the House, every measure for American military preparedness. During that period, he was, so far as humanly possible, a stooge of Hitler as well as of Stalin. The moment Hitler invaded Russia in June, 1941, Marcantonio began to scream for America's entry into the war. An arch-isolationist on June 21, 1941, Marcantonio became -- in the twinkling of an eye -- an arch-interventionist on June 23, 1941. He did not have to wait for Pearl Harbor to discover his American "patriotism"; he found it the instant his boss Stalin was in trouble.

The members and sponsors of Marcantonio's committee for re-election, including Philip Loeb, were all familiar names in the communist front movement.

Former Special Agent Hugh Finsell called and stated that he had some information he would like to bring to the Bureau. Upon arrival he advised that he had had lunch with Congressman H. Carl Andersen of Minnesota, that Congressman Andersen had stated that his office was immediately adjacent to that of Congressman Vito Marcantonio and that he would be glad at any time to have the Bureau utilize part of his office space for a mike installation, if the Bureau desired.

I told Mr. Finsell that the Bureau appreciated his interest in making this information available, but that it would not be desirable to put any mike installation in a Congressman's office.

My dear Mr. Director:

I hereby officially make a complaint against the ~~Wellworth Equities Corporation~~ located at 400 East 87 Street, ~~New York, New York~~, its officer, one Mr Benjamin Koskowitz, and its attorney, Mr Nat ~~Gulack~~.

This concern, through its officer and attorney, made application to the Office of the Housing Expediter for increase of rentals based on false and fraudulent figures. For instance, they claim expenditures of $36,640.15. The fact of the matter is that the material used in many instances was second hand and many of the other items were padded.

This was done to defraud the tenants as well as to mislead the Office of the Housing Expediter in granting increase in rentals. This landlord is the type who should be prosecuted for engaging in this most reprehensible fraud.

I have all the information in my New York office, 1484 First Avenue, Rhineland 4-6450, and will be very pleased to give it in detail to one of your representatives. I make the above charges on my own responsibility as a citizen and a member of Congress.

I trust that an investigation will be made so that this type of landlord will not be permitted to flagrantly violate the law.

Dear Sir:

I have received your letter of August 7, 1948 concerning allegedly false and fraudulent figures submitted to the Office of the Housing Expediter and indicating you feel an investigation should be conducted by this Bureau.

This matter would seem to be within the investigative jurisdiction of the Office of the Housing Expediter which has a staff of investigators. Since the contents of your letter would appear to be primarily of interest to the Office of the Housing Expediter, I have taken the liberty of referring a copy of it to Mr. Tighe E. ~~VITO MARCANTONIO~~ - Summary

BACKGROUND

Who's Who in America for 1948 reflects that Marcantonio was born December 10, 1902, at New York City, of Samuel and Angelina (DeDobitis) Marcantonio. He graduated from New York University Law School in 1925 and married Marian A. Sanders on May 20, 1925.

He managed the campaign of Fiorello H. LaGuardia for Congress, 1924-32; was admitted to practice law in New York State in 1926; was Assistant U. S. Attorney, 1930-31 and presently he is a member of the law firm of Pinto and Marcantonio. He was a member of the 74th and 76th to 80th Congresses (1935-37 and 1939-49) in the 18th New York District. He is President of the International Labor Defense, a member of the New York County Lawyers Association and is Local County Chairman of the American Labor Party.

He resides at 231 East 116th Street and has his law office at 11 Park Place, and his Congressional office at 1401 First Avenue, all New York, New York.

ELECTION ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN BEHALF OF MARCANTONIO

Reliable confidential informants have reported that throughout Marcantonio's political career he has been supported actively by the Communist Party by canvassing, obtaining petition signatures, supplying clerical help, raising funds, holding rallies, and with publicity in the Communist press. The following are a few examples: In the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives, Appendix Part II, Page 1374, it is stated that a check of the names of the officers, sponsors, and committee members of the Non-partisan Committee for the Re-election of Congressman Vito Marcantonio "will reveal the extraordinary large proportion of veteran Communist fellow travelers" who were members of the organization which was organized during the Congressional election campaign of 1936.

(61-7582-1293)

A reliable confidential informant advised that in 1944 Anthony Ribaudo was Marcantonio's campaign manager. Another reliable confidential informant advised that Ribaudo, prior to his induction into the U. S. Army, had been head of the East Harlem Club of the Communist Party. A reliable confidential informant reported that on January 20, 1944, at a meeting of the Chelsea Club of the Communist Party in New York City, Elizabeth Barker spoke on the election of Marcantonio stating that he was "the backbone of the Party in New York City" and that the Comrades should work for his election. (CI [REDACTED] 2-33-13 pg 3)

A reliable confidential informant reported that at a meeting of the 8th Assembly District Club of the New York Communist Party held on May 3, 1944, an appeal was issued for volunteers to canvass, distribute literature, etc., for Marcantonio's election campaign. Twenty thousand pieces of literature were to be distributed. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-3636 pg 16)

A reliable confidential informant reported that at the initial session of the New York State Communist Party Convention held May 14, 1944, at Manhattan Center, New York City, Israel Amter, New York State Chairman, in a speech urged the reelection of Marcantonio. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-3592)

[REDACTED]

A reliable confidential informant reported that on May 22, 1944, a meeting was held at Marcantonio's headquarters at 1484 First Avenue, New York City, which was attended by 60 persons of whom most, if not all, were Communist Party members. Two of those present gave a demonstration regarding how they secured signatures on their petitions. Those present were told that henceforth they would have to circulate American Labor Party petitions as well as Democratic petitions as another American Labor Party member was running in opposition to Marcantonio. A reliable confidential informant in August, 1946, disclosed that the Waterfront Section of the Communist Party like other Communist groups throughout the New York City area participated in the election drive to nominate Marcantonio during the recent primary election in the 18th Congressional District. (CI [REDACTED] 100-340600-672X pg 7)

A reliable confidential informant advised that prior to October 7, 1946, New York County headquarters of the Communist Party issued a directive to all branch executives to instruct their members to report to Marcantonio's campaign headquarters to help with the campaign. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-5323)

A reliable confidential informant reported that in November, 1946, the Communist Party inaugurated a drive throughout the country to mobilize its forces to form citizens committees to support Marcantonio in the event he became implicated in the election murder of Joseph Scottoriggio. (Scottoriggio was a Republican campaign worker during the November 5, 1946, New York City General Election who opposed the reelection of incumbent Representative Marcantonio, American Labor Party in the Eighteenth Congressional District. Scottoriggio was assaulted by four individuals and died five days later as a result of the beating, without identifying his assailants.) (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-5455)

A reliable confidential informant disclosed that at a county wide meeting of Communist Party executives which was held at the Queens County, New York City Communist Party headquarters in early December, 1946, Dave Rosenberg, the main speaker, stated that the Communist Party would fight the reactionary forces attempting to prevent Marcantonio from taking his seat in Congress. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-5500)

A reliable confidential informant revealed that at a meeting of the Upper West Side Section of the New York Communist Party in December, 1946, at the Unity Center, 2744 Broadway, Israel Amter stated in a speech that if it were not for the Communist Party, Marcantonio would have been defeated in the recent election. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-5495)

A confidential reliable informant advised that on July 22, 1947, the Yorkville Section of the Communist Party had been instructed to assist Marcantonio in his campaign to elect Martin X. Cawley District Leader of the Democratic Party from the 10th Assembly District at the Democratic Primary Elections July 2, 1947. The Yorkville Communist Party Section Organizer Al Terrestman explained that the election was important because of certain phases of the new election laws of New York which were directed at defeating Marcantonio and that he could not run on the Democratic ticket as he had done in the past unless he were nominated by members of the Democratic County Committee and Marcantonio was supporting Cawley as he had promised to nominate Marcantonio on the Democratic ticket. All groups in the section were advised not to schedule regular meetings of members but to report to Marcantonio's headquarters in a body to canvass and do clerical work. (CI [REDACTED] 100-3-4-6314 pg 26)

A reliable confidential informant on October 23, 1947, furnished a copy of the report prepared by New York State Communist Party Chairman Robert Thompson entitled "The Third Party Outlook in New York" in which he listed the 1948 reelection of Marcantonio as one of the primary objectives of the Communist Party. (CI [REDACTED] trash coverage on CP Headquarters; 100-3-4-6314 pg 29)

A reliable confidential informant revealed that on January 18, 1948, Cesar Andrew Iglesias, President of the Communist Party of Puerto Rico, stated that while in the United States he had talked to Marcantonio who had asked him and the Communist Party of Puerto Rico to get petition signatures urging Marcantonio's reelection and also that petitions be sent to Henry Wallace urging his candidacy for President and pledging the support of the Communist Party of Puerto Rico. (CI [REDACTED]; 100-3-2557 pg 68)

CONTACTS WITH COMMUNIST PARTY MEMBERS AND SYMPATHIZERS

Reliable confidential informants have reported from time to time contacts between Marcantonio and numerous Communist Party members and sympathizers. For example, some of his contacts among national Communist Party leaders in New York City have been as follows: Earl Browder, Eugene Dennis, Gil Green, Ferdinand Smith, Israel Aster, the late Peter V. Cacchiare, Bella V. Dodd, Frederick (Blacky) Myers, Robert Thompson, Irving Potash, Ben Davis, Jr., and Eugene Gordon (of the "Daily Worker" at the time).

Some of his contacts in Washington, D. C. have been as follows: Hoyt Haddock (formerly an associate of Communist Party members but not anti-Communist), Art Shields (Washington "Daily Worker" representative), Eleanor Driessen (Party member), Geraldine Shandross (Party member) Harriet Bouslog (an associate of Party members), Seth Levine (an associate of Party members), Virginia Gardiner (Washington representative of the "Daily Worker" and "New Masses"), Dorothy Funn (of the National Negro Congress, a Party member), Lewis Goldblatt (Party member), Nathan Gregory Silvermaster (suspected Soviet espionage agent), Elizabeth Sasuly (a contact of subjects in the Silvermaster espionage case), David Wahl (a contact of subject in the Silvermaster case).

Some of Marcantonio's contacts are set out as follows: The "Daily Worker" on June 9, 1938, in an article captioned "Mother Bloor, 'Spirit of Communism,' Is 76," revealed that Marcantonio sent greetings to Ella Reeve Bloor on her birthday which was celebrated at a luncheon sponsored by the National Women's Commission of the Communist Party on June 9. (Bloor is a Charter member of the Communist Party and a member of its National Committee.) (61-7559-2935458)

The "Daily Worker" of June 29, 1938, in an article captioned "Mother Bloor's 76th Birthday To Be Celebrated At 'Fair' July 31" reflected that Marcantonio was one of the sponsors of the Fair. (61-7559-2948X9)

By letter dated February 6, 1940, to Leon H. Keyserling of the U. S. Housing Administration, Marcantonio evinced interest in Jules Korbhien's securing a position with that agency. (Korbhien is a Communist Party member in New York City and a contact of subjects in the Nathan Gregory Silvermaster espionage case and formerly was the paramour of Ursula Wasserman a subject in that case.) The "Daily Worker" of November 10, 1947, page 3, carried an article captioned "Twelve Thousand Bid Farewell to Peter V. Cacchione," reflecting that Marcantonio was a speaker at the funeral services for the late Cacchione, Communist Party member and New York City Councilman, held November 9, 1947, in New York City. (100-44179A)

A reliable confidential informant reported that on April 15, 1948, Marcantonio and Congressmen Adam Clayton Powell and Leo Isaacson requested Robert Thompson and Simon Gerson, National Communist Party Headquarters functionaries, to attend a meeting to be held on April 16, 1948, at the MoAlpin Hotel, New York City, to discuss proposed legislation affecting the Communist Party as recommended by the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives. (CI [REDACTED] 100-370-242)

A reliable confidential informant reported that Milton Goldstein, Trade Union Director of the Communist Party of Queens County, New York, on April 15, and 16, 1948, attended emergency meetings called by Marcantonio at which union officials were to make plans to fight against the outlawing of the Communist Party by Congress. MARCANTONIO'S WRITINGS AND REPRINTED SPEECHES

The following pamphlets either were written by Marcantonio or contain reprints of his speeches:

"We Accuse," pamphlet No. 1, 1938, published by the International Labor Defense (mentioned hereinafter) containing a protest against the "persecution of Tom Mooney for the San Francisco "Preparedness Day" bombing.

"Labor's Martyrs" published by the Workers Library Publishers, Inc., New York City, October, 1937, introduction by William Z. Foster, protesting against the outcome of the Haymarket Bombing Case of 1886 and the Sacco-Vanzetti executions in 1927.

"Security with FDR," with a forward by Max Bedacht (recently expelled from the Communist Party) issued by a committee for the reelection of then President Franklin D. Roosevelt, sponsored by the International Workers Order.

"Vito Marcantonio Speaks Out Against This War," reprinted from the Congressional Record by the American Peace Mobilization (mentioned hereinafter). In the speech made in Congress on February 5, 1941, Marcantonio stated that the Lend-Lease Bill was leading the United States into an "imperialist war" for the benefit of "economic royalists."

"No Gestapo in America" issued by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born (mentioned hereinafter) consisting of a radio address Marcantonio had delivered.

"The Registration of Aliens" published by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, August, 1940, inveighing against the registration of aliens during the last war.

"War Conscription Civil Liberties" published by the International Labor Defense and containing a radio speech delivered by Marcantonio over the WDC Network on August 13, 1940, in which he denounced conscription.

"Should America Go to War" published by the American Peace Mobilization in which Marcantonio stated on page 3, "I believed then that the war of 1939 and 1940 up to June, 1941 was an imperialist war. I still believe that the war of 1939-40 up to June, 1941 was an imperialist war. However I maintain that from the standpoint of defense of our nation, the liberties and the national interests of the people of the United States, the invasion of the Soviet Union by Hitler transformed that war which was predominantly imperialist into a war which is now essentially one of national defense." (Publication files)

In a pamphlet published by the American Peace Mobilization captioned "Marcantonio Answers FDR" is contained a radio address made by Marcantonio on May 30, 1941, in which he spoke against Lend-Lease and accused the late President Roosevelt of leading the United States towards war. He stated that he had fought the administration's "imperialist" program of armaments, conscription, war and dictatorship from the very beginning. The pamphlet stated that Marcantonio had been arrested and jailed for leading a demonstration demanding unemployment relief in 1936 and listed him as President of the International Labor Defense and Vice President of the American Peace Mobilization. (There is no fingerprint record available regarding the above arrest, nor is there available any criminal record in connection with Marcantonio.) (100-3-25-320)

The September 29, 1945, issue of the "People's Voice," (New York Negro Communist line newspaper) carried a guest editorial by Marcantonio captioned "Un-American Dies Committee Must Be Stopped Now," which is quoted in part as follows: "News that the House Committee on Un-American Activities has subpoenaed the leaders of the Communist Party of America is a clear indication that the Committee is the unregenerate off-spring of the old Dies gang that disgraced America for so many years. An attack on the Communist Party of America is an attack on the rights and freedom of all the American people. If this attack is permitted to go without adequate and crushing opposition, every American is put in danger of losing the freedom for which hundreds of thousands of American boys have fought and died on far-flung battle fronts in the war against Fascism. I call on all the people to come to the defense of the Communist Party, beat back the Committee's un-American subversive attacks." (100-28126-36)

CONNECTIONS WITH THE COMMUNIST PRESS

In the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives, Appendix Part IX, Second Section, page 696, it is stated that Marcantonio was a contributor to the Communist organ, "Equality." (61-7582-1298)

In the report of the above Committee, 76th Congress, First Session, Volume 10, page 5966, it is reflected that Marcantonio in his testimony before the Committee admitted having given the following endorsement to the Communist line publication, "New Masses": "No other magazine can possibly take its place. It is not just another liberal magazine. There is no other weekly in the country that can be depended upon for consistency and political acumen in its comments on events. There is no other magazine in which the facts behind the political and economic scene can be found so accurately and readily. I do not know how anyone in the progressive movement can afford to be without it, if they have the price." (61-7582)

In the report of the Hearings before the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives, 80th Congress, First Session, page 54, it is reflected that Walter S. Steele, then Managing Editor of the "National Republic" magazine, testified that Marcantonio was a contributing editor of the "New Masses" which Steele called a Communist newspaper.

He further testified that Marcantonio also was a Vice President of the "Fraternal Outlook," monthly publication of the International Workers Order (mentioned hereinafter). (100-3-2129-34, 35, 121)

In the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives, Appendix Part IX, Second Section, page 747, it is stated that a photograph and a write-up of Marcantonio appeared in the Communist magazine "Friday" of June 28, 1940, page 3 for his opposition to "staggering appropriations for armament and battleships." (61-7582-1298)

In the September 4, 1944 issue of the "Daily Worker," page 4, appeared a picture of Marcantonio and he is quoted as saying, "On this Labor Day, I greet the 'Daily Worker' and the workers for the militant fight on behalf of the best interests of the American People." (100-28126-26 pg 159)

In the "Tremont News" of March, 1945, a publication of the Tremont Club of the New York Communist Party, appeared an advertisement of a banquet to honor the 6th anniversary of "L'Unita Del Popolo" (Italian Communist Party line newspaper) to be held March 11, 1945, at the Henry Hudson Hotel. Marcantonio was listed as the guest speaker. (100-3-4-6236)

A United Press article appearing in the April 15, 1946 issue of the "Washington Post" under a Moscow, April 14 dateline, disclosed that the Soviet press displayed on that date dispatches about a revival of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States and in which Marcantonio was quoted as saying, "The Soviet Union is the only democratic force in the world today." (100-28126-36 pg 2)

On December 11, 1948, Howard Rushmore, then an editor of the "New York Journal American," a former Communist Party member and former Assistant Editor of the "Daily Worker," gave a statement in New York City to Robert B. Barker, then Assistant General Council of the Special Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures of the House of Representatives. He testified that while he was with the "Daily Worker," Marcantonio's speeches were delivered to the "Daily Worker" regularly, often in advance of the actual speech and that the "Daily Worker" always publicized the speeches quite prominently. On one occasion part of a speech appeared to deviate a bit from the Communist Party line and Rushmore called it to the attention of Clarence Hathaway, then "Daily Worker" Editor and member of the Communist Party Central Committee. Hathaway told Rushmore to correct it and said that he would call up Marcantonio and tell him to change his speech before he made it. A few days later Hathaway told Rushmore that he had called Marcantonio and the speech had been changed, in line with the "Daily Worker" story. To the best of Rushmore's recollection, the speech was to have been given before Congress. Rushmore further testified that he had seen Marcantonio in New York Communist Party Headquarters one night in 1938 with two or three members of the Communist Party National Committee of whom one he thought he remembered to have been Robert Minor.

Rushmore also stated that although he did not know of his own knowledge that Marcantonio was a Party member, he was so regarded by employees of the "Daily Worker" and over a period of years had followed the Communist Party line completely.

He said that Marcantonio could not have been National President of the International Labor Defense, a branch of the International Red Aid, set up by the Communist International in 1931 without the Communist Party first knowing in advance that he would take orders from it.

Rushmore then testified that Marcantonio also had been Vice President of the American Peace Mobilization and that at a meeting Rushmore had covered, Marcantonio had been the most "vociferous and unmitigating defender of the new policy, defending Hitler and calling Roosevelt a warmonger," during the period of the Stalin-Hitler Pact prior to June 22, 1941, and that after Hitler invaded Germany Marcantonio changed his attitude over night and called it a "people's war."

COMMENTS OF THE NON-COMMUNIST PRESS
REGARDING MARCANTONIO

The New York evening "Journal-American" of July 15, 1940, carried an article captioned "Marcantonio--Why Should He Have Republican Backing?" in which it was stated: "Mr. Marcantonio is one of the very few Congressmen who voted earlier this year against continuing the Dies Committee at a time when even former 'enemies' of the Committee acknowledged that the country needed its services more than ever before."

"On three late occasions Mr. Marcantonio was the only member of the House of Representatives voting against vital national defense bills."

The article listed these bills as those for air expansion, for a mechanized army, and for naval expansion and remarked that the only political party opposing the measures was the Communist Party.

(61-7559-9647X)

An article appearing in the New York evening "Journal-American" of June 25, 1941, captioned "Marcantonio--Reds Drive on School Probe" stated in part: "Following the strict Communist Party line, agitators in Harlem have begun an intensive drive against the joint legislative committee to investigate subversive activities in the public schools. Playing an active role in the attack on the Rapp-Coudert legislative committee is Representative Vito Marcantonio of the 20th Congressional District. Vito Marcantonio, labeled as a Communist follower by Luigi Antonini, state chairman of the American Labor Party, as well as by the Dies Committee in Congress, was the principal speaker at a mass meeting in Park Palace, 110th Street and Fifth Avenue, which was featured by verbal attacks on the Rapp-Coudert Committee."

Under the heading of "Repudiated by ALP" the article continued: "In the last Congressional campaign when he was repudiated by the American Labor Party, which he continued to claim as his political party affiliation, his defeat was urged by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who said: 'We know Marcantonio here in Washington and we know his Communist leanings, his sympathies with present policies supported by the Communists and his general attitude towards wise and wholesome legislation.'"

"The 'Daily Worker' in editorial tribute to Vito Marcantonio referred to him as the 'Party spokesman' under frequent fire when former members of the Communist Party appeared as witnesses before the Dies Committee. Vito Marcantonio has been listed as either an officer or a member of no less than 25 organizations branded as Communist controlled or Communist fronts."

The article continued: "Marcantonio's activity in the present attempt to arouse hatred for the Rapp-Coudert Committee follows closely the Communist program for constant agitation and is in line with many of his efforts in the past which have brought him notoriety and publicity. Rioting in a Madison Square demonstration in 1937 led to the arrest of Marcantonio and 12 other ring leaders."

"When the 'sitdown' strikers attempted to seize 29 relief stations of New York City, Marcantonio was their defender and spokesman.

"When the Communist Party still retained an official place on the New York State ballot, Marcantonio was endorsed as the Party candidate for Congress in 1938.

"And as recent as June 7, Marcantonio, speaking before the 4th American Writers Congress, labeled a Communist controlled body, deplored present day attacks on Communists."

Under the caption "Address Communists" the article continued: "When the International Workers Order, branded by the Dies Committee as the 'number two Communist front', met, Marcantonio was principal speaker.

"When the American Students Union, branded as a Communist controlled organization, met, Marcantonio was principal speaker.

"When the American People's Mobilization Group, classified as another Communist inspired organization, met, Marcantonio was principal speaker."

An article appearing in the New York "Daily Mirror" of November 15, 1941, captioned "Marcantonio, His Eyes Left, About Faces," stated that Congress has had many laughs at the expense of Marcantonio in recent months following his loud yes for neutrality revision. This article continued: "Marcantonio's record shows unbroken opposition to Roosevelt policy of all out aid until Hitler invaded Russia. He voted against selective service draft, against lend lease, and against the four billion dollar army bill. In a Madison Square Garden speech on March 22, 1941, he assailed newspapers that reported the latter bill had passed unanimously. 'I cast my vote against that bill and the Record will show it,' he shouted. In March Marcantonio assailed the Roosevelt policies and insisted the American people did not want war. All this before Hitler invaded Russia. When the second lend lease bill came up, Russia had been invaded. Marcantonio not only voted aye, but thought we should send troops. When neutrality revision came to a vote, Marcantonio not only 'yessed' but wanted an AEF to open up a western front to relieve pressure on Russia."

(100-28126-36, p.4)

An article in the April, 1944, "Harper's" magazine by Richard H. Rovere captioned "Marcantonio, Machine Politician, New Style" is quoted, in part, as follows:

"The touchstone of Communist conduct is foreign policy. In his first term in Congress, Marcantonio was pacifist and isolationist; his chief concern was the abolition of compulsory military training in land grant colleges. In his second term the Party line changed and so did his. He demanded that the neutrality act be interpreted to allow shipments of arms to Loyalist Spain. In the beginning of his third term when the Russo-German pact was enforced, he was isolationist again; he demanded rigid interpretation and enforcement of the neutrality act; he was the only Congressman who voted against every measure not only for aid to Britain but also for national defense. But as soon as Hitler invaded Russia, he wanted repeal of the whole act; he became, months before Pearl Harbor, one of the first Congressmen to call for an open declaration of war and the immediate dispatch of an expeditionary force. 'Hitler may soon be within rowboat distance of our country,' he said, meaning that if the Nazis got to the Bering Strait, small craft could ferry them to Alaska. Explaining himself to the House, he said: 'I still believe that up to June, 1941, the war was an imperialist war; however, I maintain that the invasion of the Soviet Union by Hitler transformed that war which was essentially imperialist into a war which is now essentially one of national defense.'

"In the early 1930's the Communists opposed Roosevelt. 'The WPA,' Marcantonio said, 'is doing more to destroy the American standard of living than any group of reactionary industrialists in the country.' In 1938 when the Communists supported Roosevelt, he made a campaign promise to 'fight the reactionary movement to scuttle WPA.' At about this time he became president of the International Labor Defense, the American branch of the Comintern's International Red Aid. 'I am not and never have been a Communist,' said Marcantonio, a contributing editor to the 'New Masses,' 'I say flatly that Red baiters are the very worst type of criminal.'

An editorial appearing in the July 31, 1944, issue of the New York "Daily Mirror" styled "Moscow's Veto" is quoted, in part, as follows:

"Vito Marcantonio, sniveling little pro-Communist who stood out against this country as Joe Stalin's sole representative in the Congress of the United States, will seek the Republican and Democratic nominations in addition to that of the ALP, which he already owns, in the primary elections tomorrow.

"In our opinion, as an official, he is utterly no good, a liability to the City of New York, a disgrace to the nation's Congress, and an enemy of everything that American democracy should stand for.

"If elected, he will continue to represent as he has represented in the past, the Communist Party of Moscow and the interests of the Soviet Union in our nation's Congress which he despises."

The article further stated that Marcantonio voted against all national defense appropriations up until June 22, 1941, on which date the alliance of "the earth's two blackest dictatorships was broken; Hitler attacked Russia." The article continued that overnight Marcantonio and all Communists "achieved the mental and moral flip-flop that put them behind the defense effort 100%—not for this country's good but for Russia's." (100-28126-36 p.2)

An article appearing in the New York "World Telegram" of June 5, 1946, styled: "Moscow's Marcantonio" is quoted, in part, as follows:

"And yet Representative Vito Marcantonio is, in the Congress of the United States, the recognized spokesman for Communists. His votes have always veered to conform with the Communist Party line. Until Germany turned against Russia, he opposed selective service in this country, voted against lend lease and appropriations for ships and planes, denounced Roosevelt's foreign policy as the 'Wall Street--Downing Street Axis.' He inveighed early and late against warmongers. Only when Germany attacked Russia and the Communist Party line sharply changed, did Congressman Vito Marcantonio promptly and agilely change with it.

"His capture of the left wing leadership of the American Labor Party, his perennial dickerings and alliances with other parties have all been directed to the strengthening of the Communist political influence and the furtherance of Communist aims.

"Because of his notorious record as an ardent pro-Communist, Democrats in Congress did not hesitate in 1943 to reject Marcantonio for membership in the House Judiciary Committee.

"Yet despite all this, Tammany leaders who call themselves Democrats endorsed yesterday this Soviet-serving Congressman for the Democratic nomination in the 18th Assembly District!

"This comes close to an all-time political low, even for Tammany!"

ACTIVITIES IN CONNECTION WITH COMMUNIST FRONT AND COMMUNIST INFILTRATED ORGANIZATIONS

All of the following organizations have been declared by the Attorney General to be within the purview of Executive Order No. 9835 or have been cited by the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives or a like body as Communist front or Communist infiltrated organizations. An asterisk denotes those declared within the purview of Executive Order No. 9835.

American League Against War and Fascism*

An undated letterhead of the American League Against War and Fascism received in 1937 listed Marcantonio as a member of its advisory board.

(61-7561-163X8)
In the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives, Appendix Part IX, first section, page 423, Marcantonio is listed as a speaker at a meeting held April 3 (year not given) at Madison Square Garden, New York City, under the auspices of the American League Against War and Fascism and another organization to protest "gag legislation" pending before Congress and State legislatures.

American Slav Congress*

(61-7582-1298)

A reliable confidential informant reported that Marcantonio was a speaker at the third annual conference of the American Slav Congress of Greater New York which was held June 4, 1944, at the Bohemian National Hall, New York City.

(CI [REDACTED] 100-56674-164)

A reliable confidential informant disclosed that on February 29, 1948, Marcantonio sent greetings by telegram to the national conference of the Polish Panel of the American Slav Congress held at the Slavonia Club, Detroit, Michigan.

(CI [REDACTED] 100-56674-1085)

Jewish Peoples Committee*

In the report of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives, Appendix Part IX, fourth section, page 1131, Marcantonio is listed as a speaker at a Jewish unity parley to be held the Saturday and Sunday following March 11, 1938, at the Mecca Temple, New York City, by the Jewish Peoples Committee. It was announced in the "Daily Worker" of March 11, 1938, page 2.

(61-7582-1298)

In the "Daily Worker" of March 24, 1941, page 1, appeared an article captioned "Jewish Conference Hails Bill to Ban Anti-Semitism" reflecting that Marcantonio spoke at the fifth national convention of the Jewish Peoples Committee at the Mecca Temple, New York City, in March, 1941.
